JUGS AS IN ALIVE: Jennifer Ellison

that'll be write

Send your views to RowZ, Daily Record, One Central Quay, Glasgow G3 8DA or email rowz@dailyrecord.co.uk

I dreamed the other night that Jennifer Ellison invited me out for a couple of jugs. Imagine my disappointment when I discovered she meant heavy.

Professional cyclists - hide the fact you've taken performance-enhancing drugs by going slower.

OLIVER TWISTED
What do you call that lot that used to chant all day?
HARRY KRISHNA

How come cricketers only get a slap on the wrist for ball-tampering yet when I did it in the local park I got hauled off to the jail?

MICHAEL GEORGE, London

Are you hitting the bevvie too much? We can help. Come to The Priory, where you can destress in a relaxed atmosphere among like-minded people.

TAM, Landford, The Priory (Happy Hour weekdays 6am-8pm)

ONE RULE FOR SOME: Ball tampering

Can anyone tell me where you catch a ferry to Northern Ireland?

R. DROSSAN

My wife doesn't understand me. That's the last time I believe ThaiBrides.co.uk when they promise to send me an English-speaking missus.

JOHN O' GROATS, John O' Groats

I've recently come to your country from Holland and I am thinking of starting up a vehicle hire company but don't know what to call it.

HERTZ VAN RENTAL, Glasgow

It's so unfair that everyone keeps asking poor Tony Blair when he's going to quit. I know just how hard it is as I used to smoke 60 a day.

SENOR SERVICE, Madrid

My four friends and I are starting up a band and can't think of a name. Any ideas?

DAVE DEE, DOZY, BEAKY, MICK AND TICH

Do your readers know the name of the Scots roving reporter who used to be on Nationwide? I think he also advertised Lawson's sausages.

MR ROBERTSON, Fife

Have fun by going into a card shop for wrapping paper then asking the assistant if she will wrap it for you.

OLIVER TWISTED

Avoid getting tickets by breaking off your windscreen wipers each time you park illegally.

AMATEUR FOOTBALLERS WIFE

AMANDA WILSON
Wife of Wullie (Windlaw Amateurs)

What's Wullie's biggest fault?
The poor boy is a huge Rangers fan. Enough said.

When did you last fall out?
When he told me he was wasting our hard-earned money to go and watch Rangers in Norway this week.

What's your biggest fantasy?
Well, it involves myself, Wullie and a glass lift with steamy windows.

Shoes or handbags?
Both equally as I can't buy one without the other to match.

D&G or M&S?
D&G when Wullie is in a good mood.

Which celebrity does Wullie resemble?
Frank Lampard (wishful thinking - but compliments get me trips to D&G).

What's your ideal night out?
A night with the girls at Yates' in Sauchiehall Street and lots of apple soups.

Would Wullie make a good woman?
After getting his eyebrows waxed for our wedding last month, I'd have to say yes.

If he was an animal, what would he be?
He would be a cheeky monkey because he's cheeky, hairy and my little monkey.

Wimp or hard man?
Hard man to everyone else, but he's too scared of me.

Has he ever embarrassed you?
Only when he's drunk and thinks he's a really good dancer.

Does he talk in his sleep?
Yes, but he's always dreaming of me.

What is his most prized possession?
Our little girl Paris and a photo with Gazza.

What three attributes attract him to women?
The usual bumps - it doesn't take too much imagination.

G-string or knickers?
G-string for me, G-rope for Wullie.

What would he pick first, you or football?
It depends who Rangers are playing.

Where is the most unusual place you've done the business?
Picture this: an August summer's night halfway up Ben Nevis, just getting to the crucial stage, and three French tourists come round the corner!

Dug in a strip?

*We take other animals as well

Dylan here is in the dughouse because he refused to pose in a St Mirren top and wanted to be associated with a team that can "virtually guarantee a win" (his words, not ours).

Result is his owner, Drew, is putting him on a cat food diet for a month. Drew said: "If he talks like a pussy he'll get treated like one too."

Got a picture of a dug in a strip? Or a cat, budgie, etc? Send it to the addresses above with your details and win a Row Z prize for your trouble.
